Public Area

LOBBY, HALLWAY & BALLROOM

Hospitality spaces are so vital when welcoming guests to have a stay for a vacation, or for love birds to celebrate their Big Day. That's why making an impression is pertinent especially in areas such as lobbies, hallways and ballrooms. These are places where guests will congregate, so giving one a good first impression is unquestionably important.

Aside from these spaces being decorative, welcoming and cozy, much emphasis needs to be placed on health and safety features. In addition, these spaces are often large and spacious, so even soliciting economical products to deck it up is another key consideration.

Guestroom & Outdoor

POOLSIDE & WALKWAY

Guestrooms and outdoor zones should never be given by-the-way treatment. For guestrooms, the main intention is to allow the guest to feel right at home. Such a guest should be treated like the king of the house, so the interior appointments should be well thought-out.

A well-designed guestroom should emanate warmth, provide comfort and offer quietude for the guest to rest, relax, rejuvenate or sleep. These same requirements can also be applied to an outdoor setting - poolside or garden patio - where the guest or homeowner can also relax, recharge or rejuvenate.

While the guestroom will require attention to decorative details such as wallcovering or flooring solutions, the outdoor setting will need more emphasis on the latter. Once you have created a homely vibe for these two areas, your guest will enjoy the spoils.

Bars & Restaurants

Bars and restaurants are areas associated with gustatory moments to tantalise our palates and satisfy our stomachs. A restaurant should be a zone devoted to the enjoyment of food, drinks and good company.

It should be a place where it is inviting, intimate, or simply to enjoy a communal meal with family and friends. While decorative elements such as wallcoverings are important to draw the eye, a well-designed restaurant should create the right mood to satisfy guests.

GYM, KITCHEN & RESTROOM

Never treat the gym, kitchen and restroom as perfunctory zones in a hospitality space. These are places where people spend some considerable time working out to keep fit or look good; prep and cook food; or enjoy short moments in washing up and relieving oneself.

As gyms and restroom take the beating of heat, sweat, moisture and bodily deposits, it is essential that we spend on good quality surfaces – floorings and wallcoverings – to lessen the proliferation of bacteria. Kitchens should be able to take the onslaught of splashes from hot oil or food stains.

NEVER TREAT THE GYM, KITCHEN AND TOILET AS PERFUNCTORY ZONES IN A HOSPITALITY SPACE.

Eye-catching wallcoverings in these spaces should not compromise on versatility and safety, that is being prone to spillages and slips, while floorings should bear the same tenets. If these spaces are created beautifully while providing safe and hygienic features, they can also be inviting and welcoming to anyone.

MEETING ROOM & CORRIDOR

Meetings are vital for business processes and to get everyone convening to discuss a topic. So a room to accommodate several people in a single room should be conducive, warm, inviting, and comfortable. Walltalkers are must-haves when communicating and idea on a whiteboard. Their ease-of-use and low-maintenance means you can express yourself clearly through graphics, texts, pictures, or scribbles then wipe away when the discussion is over.

XSELECT premium wallcoverings do their magic by giving walls a means to express and shine through Japanese-inspired art. You can also opt for PremierFloor carpet tiles that are suitable for heavy footfall and chairs' castors. Don't snub the "prelude" when entering meeting rooms - corridors. A well-designed corridor has its merits by creating a sense of warmth, cosiness, and ease.
